TV, Radio Reports Highlighted As 1200 Attend Election Party

Approximately 1,200 persons attended the all-campus Election Party, Tuesday evening, according to Jackie Robson, president of the Press Club.

Television sets, provided by the town merchants, were installed throughout the Recreation Hall. Reports of the national elections were received by the International News Service wire teletype in the B-G News office and also by the University radio station, WBGU.

A committee of students picked up the state and county results at the courthouse every half hour during the party. Telephones in the Administration Bldg. were in operation to handle some 250 calls from townspeople.

The committees for the affair were Jackie Elliot, Keith Sanders, Roger Boyle, Tomy Lindy, Jerald DeGennaro, Ray Kovacs, Carol Croft, refreshments; George Leh-

Prout Is Main Speaker At AWS Banquet Night

Dr. Frank J. Prout, president-emeritus of the University, will speak at the annual Leadership Banquet sponsored by the Association of Women Students tonight, announced Janet Dick, chairman of the event.

This is a formal dinner which honors the women leaders on campus. Sorority presidents, presidents of honoraries, members of Cap and Gown, counselors in residence halls, members of University committees, class officers, and editors of University publications, members of AWS executive and legislative boards, and head residents of women's residence halls have been invited.

Honored guests of AWS for the evening will be Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. Prout, Pres. and Mrs. Ralph W. MacDonald, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Harshman, Dr. and Mrs. Elden T. Smith, Dean and Mrs. Arch B. Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Currier and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trumbore.

Shirley Merritt, president of AWS, will welcome the guests, and Linda Welshimer, first vice-president, will give the invocation.

Committees for the banquet are as follows: Carol Germann, chairman; Mary Traill, Mary Anderson, Roberta McColl, and Mary Jo Aufderheide, invitations; Nancy Curtis, chairman, Sally McClements, Carolyn Kissel, and Barbara Young, decorations and set-up; and Marianne Illenberger, chairman, Alice Roswurm, Arlene Daugherty, and Dolores Neldeon, programs.

Music throughout the evening will be provided by a string trio, composed of Martha Olds, Norman Nunamaker, and Jane Hermann. Additional entertainment will be presented by Carol Shaffer, vocalist, accompanied by Carolyn Haner, and the Gracenotes Quartet, which includes Mary Lou Robinson, Karis Stahl, Phyllis Smith, and Maxine Boger.

The banquet will be held in the Kohl Hall dining room, and will begin at 7 p.m., said Miss Dick.

A reception for Dr. Prout will be held for honored guests and AWS legislative and executive boards in Alice Prout Hall lounge after the dinner.

Kappa Sigs Breakfast, Game, Variety Show To Placed On Highlight All-Campus Dad's Day Probation

On the basis of an investigation of the circumstances connected with a party which involved undergraduate and alumni members of Kappa Sigma fraternity on Saturday, Oct. 27, 1956, in the American Legion Hall at Bradner, Ohio, the following findings are disclosed:

Although no chapter authorization was given for the participation of undergraduate members in any phase of this social function, a chapter officer erred in acting as an agent for the alumni in making arrangements for the hall without the knowledge of the chapter president and the fraternity advisor.

Although a number of active members visited this party on Saturday evening, Oct. 27, there is no evidence that there was an deliberate attempt on the part of the chapter to subvert University regulations. Furthermore, there is no evidence of misconduct on the part of any undergraduate member.

Although the chapter president and the advisor of the fraternity have cooperated fully in the investigation of the party and the events leading up to it, the members of the chapter were most uncooperative with the University and displayed a belligerent and unfriendly attitude toward the University official in charge of the investigation.

On the basis of above findings the following action is taken:

The local chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity is hereby censured for its failure to cooperate with the University in the initial stages of its investigation of a reported violation of University regulations. The local chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity is hereby placed on probation for an indefinite period. This probation involves no loss of privileges providing the future actions of the Kappa Sigma chapter and its members demonstrate the ability and willingness to govern themselves in accordance with the high standards of the fraternity system at Bowling Green State University.

Hyman Guest Seaker At Nurses Convention

Dr. Melvin Hyman, assistant professor of speech, was guest speaker last Tuesday before two groups at the Ohio Student Nurses Convention in Dayton. Topic of his talk was "Speech Rehabilitation After Laryngectomy."

Singers Well Liked In Men's Gym

BY JEFFREY OSOFF

Costumed in their native green, and combining the sweetness of youth and the mellowness of adult experience, the Little Gaelic Singers of County Perry, Ireland fresh from their recent appearance on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town, truly outdid themselves before a small but enthusiastic audience at the Second Artist Series program last Monday.

Creating a contrast little seen on the American stage, the distinguished Irish baritone Michael McWilliams added his sharp rich voice to the melodic soprano of the choir as he rendered his versions of "The Next Market Day," "The Bold Fenian Men," "The Palatine's Daughter," and "The Bard of Armagh." So stirring and heart warming were the selections that the receptive audience brought him back for two encores "The Spanish Lady," and "Killer Fair."

Displaying a versatility which was more than well received by the audience, the singers, under the direction of James McCafferty, who is considered to be one of Ireland's leading vocal coaches, combined in a singing and dancing routine which featured Brendon DeGlin who is probably one of the most celebrated adjudicators of the Irish dance.

The dances, arranged by DeGlin, featured the traditional Irish step and included several of the singers playing the violin. Michael Plummer and Gerald McCafferty,

Honorary Asks For Recognition

At its second meeting of the year, Nov. 1, the members of Delta Sigma, men's honorary in journalism, unanimously elected Prof. J. J. Currier as new adviser of the group.

Mr. Currier is the chairman of the department of journalism at the University. The need for a new adviser was created by the resignation of Mr. William Gibbon, who resigned his post as assistant director of public relations for the University to assume a position with the Bowling Green Sentinel-Tribune.

Delta Sigma is in the process of petitioning Sigma Delta Chi, national men's journalism honorary, for establishment of a chapter at the University, according to Evan Urhammer, president of Delta Sigma. George Howick, secretary-treasurer of the group is at present preparing the petition.

Two new members Jack Mortland and Fred Bauer will be initiated into the organization Monday Nov. 12. In addition Dr. Raymond Derr associate professor of journalism, Mr. Donald C. Peterson, instructor in journalism, and Henry Jacques, editor-in-chief of the B-G News will be installed as honorary members at that meeting.

Journalists Attending National Convention

Eleven members of the B-G News and Key staffs are attending the annual Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Cleveland today, according to Jesse J. Currier, chairman of the journalism department.

B-G News staff members attending the three day convention are Henry Jacques, editor-in-chief; Joan Honkala, managing editor; Dick Gibson, issue editor; Marcia Karzewski, business manager; and Les Wagner, sports editor. The B-G News is being handled by other members of the staff for this issue.

Key members at the ACP are Ann Blackmar, editor-in-chief; Gail Cranfield, associate editor in charge of engraving; Marv Megison, business manager; and Herb Moskowitz, associate editor in charge of copy. Donald C. Peterson, instructor in journalism and adviser to both publications, is also attending the convention as is Don Hannah, photo editor of both the B-G News and the Key.

The University will celebrate Dad's Day for all students and their fathers, tomorrow, according to Nancy Looman, chairman of the Student Spirit and Traditions Board. This will be the first time in a number of years that the day will be an all campus affair instead of being limited to the fathers of football players.

Society To Hold Leadership Day

Cap and Gown, senior women's leadership society, will conduct a Leadership Training School, Saturday, Nov. 17, according to Nancy Looman, president.

This training school has been planned to teach executive officers of campus organizations how to more effectively carry out the responsibilities placed upon them by their various groups, Miss Looman said.

The day-long meeting will be held in the Practical Arts Bldg. on Nov. 17, beginning at 8:30 a. m. It will get under way with a general session, ending in a brunch of coffee and donuts. Following this, the students attending will be divided into groups according to the office they hold. The afternoon session, beginning at 1:30 p.m., will be opened by Dean Florence Currier, adviser to Cap and Gown, by introducing the faculty members participating in the model meeting, which is the next segment of the program. A question-answer period and a summary address given by Dr. Martha M. Gesling, also adviser to Cap and Gown, will follow.

This year's event will be co-sponsored by the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity, originators of Dad's Day, and the Student Spirit and Traditions Board, Miss Looman said.

The dads will be treated to a football game between the Bowling Green Falcons and the Ohio University Bobcats. If Bowling Green should win they will automatically become the 1956-57 champions of the Mid-American Conference. The Bowling Green Marching Band will present a special half-time show in honor of the visiting dads.

All residence halls have been asked to plan functions for dads of the members living in their residence halls for before and after the game, Miss Looman said.

ATO Fraternity, which will be handling the football dads' events will begin festivities with a breakfast for the football team and their dads at 10:30 a.m. in the University Commons, according to Dale Christensen, ATO chairman. Guest speakers at the breakfast will be Pres. Ralph W. McDonald and Coach Doyt Perry.

Dad Of Year

Students should purchase tickets for the game for their fathers today at the latest.

Dads of all university students will be honored guests on the campus during this affair, Pres. Ralph W. McDonald said recently.

Variety Show

A University Variety Show will be presented in the main auditorium at 7 p.m. to climax Dad's Day, announced Eugene Davis, chairman of the event.

The show will include a tap dance routine by Nancy Looman and Jerry Ammons; pantomimes by the Krazy Koeds, Thelma Madden, Mary Graybill, and Judy Finkel; Colleen Cunningham singing "Allez-Vous-Pn." from Cole Porter's "Can, Can;" interpretations of songs from "The Most Happy Fellow," by Sandy Moses, Carol Shaffer, Louis Bove, and Helen Avakian; plus a waltz, charleston, and jitterbug dance routine; the Pitch Pikes singing "Hound Dog" and a variety of other acts.

Tickets for this event will be on sale in the Well from 1 to 5 p.m. today. They may be purchased for 15 cents and activity cards will not be necessary to make the purchase.

A combo will provide music for an informal dance in the Nest following the Variety Show, Davis said.

Directories Ready For Distribution

The new University Directories are expected to arrive some time today from the Lawhead Press in Athens, according to Harold Van Winkle, director of publications and the news service.

The telephone numbers for offices on campus are listed in the University's PABX system. These particular numbers cannot be used until the office telephones are transferred to the new system.

Copies for students who live on campus will be distributed through residences. Students who live off campus may pick up copies at the Publications and News Service Office, 216 Administration Bldg.

Jokester Pulls Switch; Who's Who Is Question

One prankster in Chicago pulled the switch of the day. He reversed the party labels on the two big levers of a voting machine.

As a result, those wanting to vote straight Democratic really voted Republican and vice versa. The situation was corrected, but there is no way of knowing how many people voted exactly that way.

Cowles To Serve As Asst. Debate Coach

Serving Bowling Green's debate squad as assistant coach this year is Robert Cowles, a graduate assistant in speech and debate.

Mr. Cowles, an alumnus of Marietta College, came to Bowling Green for graduate work and to help instruct the beginning members of the debate team. He also attends some of the varsity debate tours when Dr. Raymond Yeager, director of forensics, is unable to travel with the team. Cowles is the chairman of the debates held before the service clubs of Bowling Green and surrounding communities.

At Marietta College, he was a varsity debater and frequently competed against the Bowling Green group. While in college, he was awarded the Diamond Special Distinction Key of Pi Kappa Delta.

Editorially Speaking

Looking Forward

One of the most encompassing and forward looking programs, aside from the vast building program, that has come to the University in many years, is just about through the planning stage and about to be put into operation.

The program, designed to provide Salk vaccine for students and young faculty members, is part of an over-all program aimed at increasing immunization of the nation's most susceptible individuals, the younger generation.

Under the program any student under 19-years of age would receive the vaccine free, while those over the age limit may receive immunization for a nominal charge. The vaccine, furnished by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will also be administered to young college employees and their families. Priorities will also be given to young married couples and faculty or employee groups with children under five years of age.

The program now being formulated at the University will work in much the same fashion that is being employed at other schools.

The prime objective will be to issue a complete blanket of first series shots. This is to be followed by the second series three to four weeks later, thus insuring complete immunization for the entire campus.

The small supply of vaccine on hand does not allow the program to start immediately. However, University health officials have already requested a greatly increased supply of the vaccine, and it appears that the program will be under way in a very short time.

We are pleased to note that the University is stepping forward with other institutions of higher learning, and we have every confidence that our program will attain the high degree of success which is being enjoyed by others. In this respect then, we thank the University and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for insuring us that degree of safety which is now available, and for placing our health as a primary issue of consideration.

Weekend Performances?

The attendance at the second Artist Series program Monday night was approximately half of what it had been at the first one. The sections on the floor were not quite filled, and the bleachers were only about half filled. There may be several reasons for this lack of support.

First of all, the program was scheduled in the week just before mid term estimates were due. Many students did not attend because they had to study for tests.

Closely connected to the above reason is the fact that the performance was held on a week night. Students should not have to choose between studying and taking advantage of a program like this. We are able to enjoy too few of the good programs which add to our education immeasurably.

The Men's Gym which seats about 2200 should be filled to capacity for every Artist Series program, and with 4200 students enrolled this should not be a difficult task. But we think that the Artist Series Committee should seriously consider having all the performances on a week end night. Then, every student would have equal opportunity to decide whether or not he was going to take advantage of attending, and an important part of our education would not go unheeded.

Committee Cites Distortion In REW

Dear Sirs:

As members of the REWeek Steering Committee, and knowing, from past experience, what REWeek can do, it would be fruitless for us to consider this year's REWeek a successful one. However, we would point out a fallacy in the concept of the purposes of such a week which exists on the campus. Also we should point out that we do not disagree with you concerning the "disorganization" of the affair because we welcome constructive criticism. The one point we would wish to make is the fact that religion on the campus is an integral and vital part of the students' life. REWeek is designed to foster a better understanding and a deeper respect of other faiths. As one can obviously see, this design was somewhat distorted. Distortion is the end result of seeking differences rather than similarities in other faiths.

As to what is missing, we would suggest that a knowledge of similarities is missing and an overabundance of knowledge of differences exists. Under this kind of cloud, REWeek shall never be successful no matter what the organizations be.

Official Announcements

All veterans who have not signed for educational benefits for the months of September and October are requested to do so in 100 Administration Bldg. James L. Galloway, veteran's counselor, states that any delay in the signing will prolong the mailing of government checks, scheduled for release on Nov. 19.

There will be an important meeting of all men interested in varsity wrestling, Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 4 p.m. in room 103, Men's Gym.

The first rehearsal of the Concert Band will be held Monday, Nov. 12, at 3:30 p.m. in the Music Bldg. All persons interested in trying out for the band may do so at this time.

The next meeting of the University Veterans' Association will be held Monday, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. in the Chemistry Bldg. Members should wear suits and ties, as pictures for the Key will be taken.

There will be a meeting of all men interested in swimming on Monday, Nov. 12 at 4 p.m. in the Women's Bldg.

Four Administrators To Attend Confab

The Association of Ohio Admission Counselors will hold its fall meeting Nov. 13, at Oberlin College, stated Dr. Ralph H. Geer, assistant dean of the College of Education and retiring secretary of the organization. The topics for discussion will include scholarships and the College Entrance Examination Board tests.

Attending the meeting from the University will be Dr. Geer; Glen Van Wormer, registrar and director of admissions; Philip P. Byers, admissions officer; and Robert McKay, student financial aid counselor.

Faculty Square Dance Planned For Nov. 10

The Faculty Square Dance Club will hold its second dance of the season Saturday, Nov. 10, at 9 p.m. in the Practical Arts Auditorium.

The club is open to all members of the faculty, administration and maintenance staff. Season tickets are $8 per couple, and individual dances are $1.50 per couple.

"It is not too late to buy a season-family ticket and still save money," Dr. Russell Decker, assistant professor to business administration and club treasurer, said today.

Organizational Change Announced By Journal

The Ohio Student Education Association will replace the former state organization of college chapters of Future Teachers of America, according to a report made in the state-wide Education Journal.

All students in colleges of education are eligible for membership in OSEA. Last year the total state membership was 3,148.

Plans are being made for a regional workshop, and also for a state meeting to be held in Cincinnati, December 6-8, in conjunction with the annual delegate assembly of the OEA.

Dance Suggested For Parents; Writer Risks Prediction Streak

The all-campus Dad's Day which has been planned by the Spirit and Traditions Committee sounds like a fine idea for bringing the parents closer to the college life of their son or daughter. But we had an idea for another event which might be added to the week end. Why not an all-campus dance for mom and dad Saturday night? Music could be from the good old days, as well as from the present day. The Charleston, the Black Bottom, the Bunny Hug, the Turkey Trot—can't you see it now? And then to top off such an evening, the Queen of the Moms, or perhaps Mom of the Year, could be crowned.

Adding to the grandeur and beauty of the new Student Union, we hear that a French chef might be hired. Flaming crepe suzettes and all . . . ummmm . . .

While on the subject of food and cooks, we noticed that some of the dormitory dining halls have tea bags with the Bowling Green insignia on the label. Wonder if the coffee beans are marked thusly.

Then there was the young coed who sprayed her hair with one of many spray sets which are on the market one morning before going to her first class. All morning she wondered why her hair felt so stiff. Upon returning to her room and examining the spray further, she found that it was a spray for cleaning and revitalizing suede shoes. Which goes to prove that things don't always look better in the morning, or what's good for the head.

We heard a suggestion the other day which deserves some consideration. It concerned placing a spotlight or two in the Men's Gym for the Artist Series Programs. It would not only add a more professional touch to the performance, but would aid the audience in seeing the entertainer more closely. In the barn-like atmosphere of the Gym, it is often impossible to discern the features of the persons on the stage.

This week we are going to again predict the outcome of MAC teams and their opponents. First of all, in reference to remarks made by another columnist, our batting average for the first set of predictions was 1,000. How many females or males for that matter, could come that close. And then, he stated that females should stick to the more feminine subjects to write about. What could be more feminine than intuition? And that was the method by which we picked the winners, contrary to what some persons thought. The sports page would not be "doomed" as the writer suggested. A female sports writer would be an improvement to any sports page. But getting on with the business at hand . . .

I predict Kent State over Baldwin-Wallace by 18 points. Miami over Dayton by 13 points. Marshall over Toledo University by 7 points. Western Reserve over Western Michigan by 12 points and Bowling Green over Ohio University by 18 points.

Falcons Need Victory To Capture MAC Title

A highly improved Ohio University eleven will be trying to prevent Bowling Green from winning the Mid-American Conference crown tomorrow when they meet the Falcons at 2 p. m. in University Stadium. Only a victory will give the Falcons the title.

The Bobcats record stands at one win and six losses, but this is no indication of the kind of team OU has. BG Coach Doyt Perry has said, "This will be one of our toughest games of the year and he will be happy to win by one point."

Coach Carroll Widdoes has incorporated the "I" formation into the OU system of running. Seeing it used against him by Florida State in its first game of the season the Bobcats have seen much success come from it since it was adopted. The Green and White gained 78 yards in ten plays against Western Michigan last week using the new formation.

Leading the OU ground game is Larry Buckles, junior fullback, who has been averaging over five yards per carry. He is also the eighth leading ground gainer in the MAC. Myron Stallsmith, a Salem, Ohio product is a possible starter at one of the halfback berths. Stallsmith was OU's leading ground gainer in the Western Michigan game and also proved himself to be a very good blocker and defensive man. Probably running from the other halfback slot will be Jim Hilles. Norm Leggett, brother of Ohio State's Dave Leggett may also see action at one of the halfback positions.

Don McBride, quarterback will be running the OU team. McBride, the MAC's third leading passer with 16 completions out of 36 attempts, will undoubtedly test the Falcon pass defense. Bob Ripple has been McBride's favorite target so far this year. Ripple has caught six passes and scored one touchdown to hold down the third position in the MAC pass receiving race.

Vic DeOrio continues to lead the MAC in individual rushing with a 5.4 average per carry. Jack Giroux remained in third place with a 4.2 yard average per try.

Ed Janeway moved into first place in individual receiving in the MAC last week by catching one pass. He has caught seven for a total of 107 yards. BG's other end, Ray Reese is in first place in the all game statistics with ten caught aeriels.

BG still holds a slim ten yard edge over Miami for the top offensive conference team. The Falcons have averaged 324 yards per game. Miami moved closer to BG's defensive lead as the Falcons have given up an average of 211 yards per game to the Redskins 213.

Kappa Sigma Drops Sigma Phi Epsilon; Diehl Has 276 Game

Capturing two out of three games from Sigma Phi Epsilon last Friday night enabled Kappa Sigma to move into first place in the Fraternity Bowling League. There is now a three-way tie for second place between Sig Ep, Delta Tau Delta, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Ed Diehl led the Deltas to a two game victory over Zeta Beta Tau by rolling a 570 series including a blazing first game of 276 which is high for the season. This series enabled Diehl to raise his average of 171 and move within ten pins of the league leader Ben Gilyon, who has a 181 average. Rounding out the top three bowlers is Ed Kelling, Phi Delta Theta, with a 168 average.

Sig Ep still holds high single game with 869 while Kappa Sig owns the high series leadership with 2397.

Tonight's schedule shows Kappa Sig meeting the Deltas; Phi Deltas, Phi Kappa Psi; Sigma Chi, Pikes; Sigma Nu, Sig Eps; and Delta Epsilon, Zeta Beta Tau.

Senior Members Of Football Team To Be Honored At Rally Today

By AL GOLDBERG

The seven senior members of the 1956 Bowling Green football squad will be featured at a Senior Tackle Day this afternoon at 4:45 p. m. in the stadium.

At this, the last practice of the year each senior will tackle a tackling dummy to signify that practice for him is over and his college football career will end with his last game tomorrow. Coach Perry will introduce each senior for his last tackle.

Tomorrow's football game against Ohio University will mark the close of the 1956 football season. Not only is this the end of the season for Larry Kent, Joe DeLuca, Kenny Russell, Harold Peek, and Jack Giroux but it is the end of their college careers.

Dan Hurst and Dick Bruck will also be sitting through their last game. Neither can play because of injuries.

These seven men began their football days under the coaching regime of Robert Whittaker. In 1954, their sophomore year, the BG team won only two games while losing seven. Then in 1955 came Doyt Perry from Ohio State and for the past two years these seven men have played on a highly successful winning team.

Harold Peek has been regular center of the team since his sophomore year. He was the deciding factor in last weeks tie against Miami with his blocked punt and his touchdown. Peek works well at the game and is always a steady performer.

The mainstay in the Falcon backfield this year has been Jack Giroux. He has been the starting fullback since his first game as a sophomore. Giroux is tied with Vic DeOrio for the team scoring lead.

Big man in the Falcon line for the past two seasons has been tackle, Kenny Russell. Last year he won all-Mid-American and all-Ohio honors and has been one of the stalwarts in the BG defense again this season.

Also at tackle this season, but out of tomorrow's game with a leg injury, is Dan Hurst. Hurst has been starting most of this season and is another stalwart in the Falcon line.

Another injured senior is Dick Bruck. Perry said Bruck would have seen a lot of action at guard this year had he not been injured.

Band To Give Jolson Theme

The Dad's Day half-time program presented by the Bowling Green State University Marching Band will salute all Dads and Mothers with a "Memories of Al Jolson" theme.

The show to be presented at the Bowling Green-Ohio University football game, tomorrow will revive many of Al Jolson's popular songs to bring back college-day memories to Mom and Dad, according to Prof. Roy J. Weger, director.

The band will also present a pre-game ceremony saluting both Dads and Mothers with the formations of an open and closed umbrella. The show will include such formations as a covered wagon to "California Here I Come", an abstract design featuring the twirling section to "Swanee", and an old-fashioned cradle accompanied by "Rock-A-Bye Your Baby With a Dixie Melody".

The last formation will represent a black-faced singer which will symbolize Al Jolson's trademark.

Halfback, Larry Kent will also be playing his last game tomorrow. Kent has seen a lot of action this year and is a good runner.

Rounding out the list of seniors in their last game is end, Joe DeLuca. Although he hasn't seen much action he is one of the team's hardest workers.

Stage Reset For BG-Bobcat Tussle

Speaking of shoes on the other foot, remember just 3 years ago? In 1953, the Ohio University Bobcats, considered the second best team in the Mid-American Conference next to Miami, surprised everyone including the experts by holding the Redskins to a 7-7 deadlock. Since Ohio U. played one more conference game than the Redskins it was enough to give the Bobcats the title, the first time a team other than Miami or Cincinnati had won it. The title was not won, however, without some worry and sweat on Ohio's part.

In the last conference game of the season, the Bobcats played the then lowly Bowling Green Falcons in Athens. B-G was winless in conference play and Ohio had trounced a strong Falcon eleven in Bowling Green 33-14 the year before. Miami had slaughtered B-G 47-0 earlier in the season.

On its way to the title, Ohio had buried Western Michigan 67-12 the previous week. It didn't look like much competition for the men from Athens in their final conference game. Bowling Green, with one win all season was winding up its worst season in 18 years.

What Ohio rooters had thought would be a leisurely, pleasant afternoon of running up an astronomical score against the weak Falcons instead turned into a first rate scrap. After taking the ball, B-G marched deep into Ohio territory in 11 plays. Falcon quarterback Bill Bradshaw threw to Jim Ladd in the end zone, complete. Jack Hecker split the uprights and Bowling Green lead 7-0. Ohio never went ahead until late in the second period and finally struggled on to win the game by a 22-14 margin.

Well, the same situation exists this year but with the opposite roles reversed. Bowling Green, who plays one more conference game than Miami, held the perennially powerful Redskins to another 7-7 tie last week and need only a win over last place Ohio to take the crown.

Just Pity

the Prez Sez:

By LES WAGNER

College life at Bowling Green has tended to become humdrum for me. Things have tightened up since my freshman year. The old crowd is gone and with them went all the collegiate little happenings.

Sportswriting has inclined to play up the heroes. Naturally the winner is the big thing. So I would like to waste your time by praising the loser. Ohio University is coming to town.

Let's run a banner head praising the pugilists that ran into

WAGNER

Rocky Marciano's potent right hand. Here is some praise for the jockeys that Eddie Arcaro aced out on the turn for the home stretch. Good luck Ohio U.

Why were Bill Vukovich and James Dean downed at the starting line? I want to pat the great hasbeens on the back. Especially the ones who failed to make Doyt Perry's crew. Good luck Ohio U.

I would like to console Don Newcombe on his sad World Series fling. Who is cheering for Ewell Blackwell now? When did Alex Groza, Sherman White and company get bigger headlines than the exposure of the basketball fixes. Good luck Ohio U.

Let the jazz buffs in Birdland and the Chez Paree think of the offbeat musicians blowing in the jerkwater dives. Who feels sorry for the Sigma Alpha Epsilon's? For one day let's make all the aspiring showgirls Broadway stars. Good luck Ohio U.

For all the league champions here is a cheer for the numerous teams that they beat. Mr. Anderson, forget the last two years of basketball. From now on every foul call is going your way. To all the Democrats who will win in 1960. Good luck Ohio U.

Ohio U. is in town. They are a hungry ballclub. The defeats have become more bitter with each game. As of last week the Bobcats are a winning squad. This is their last chance. Good luck Ohio U. They will certainly need it.

WONDER WHERE THE FARMERS WENT

SINCE you were in knee-pants, over two million American farmers have dropped out of the picture. In 1940, there were 8,833,324 farmers. Today: 6,505,000. Who's taking their place to feed our growing population?

The answer is machines. Tractors that do the work of 40 men. Grain combines that reduce labor 85%. Machines help today's fewer farmers feed 30 million more Americans than 16 years ago.

The tremendous output of today's farmer depends upon the trouble-free operation of his machines. That's why every make of farm tractor uses Timken® tapered roller bearings—why more and more implements are using them too. Timken bearings reduce breakdowns because they roll the load, practically eliminate friction, last and last.

Keeping farm equipment rolling smoothly is just one example of how the Timken Company keeps America on the go—by working hand-in-hand with all industry. By making possible increased speed and precision, decreas-ing wear and maintenance. By pioneering improvements in machines and bearings.

The pioneering spirit has helped make us the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings and removable rock bits, and a leading producer of fine alloy steel.

The best place to keep going—and keep going up—is with a company that's helping keep America on the go. So you may be interested in what future lies ahead of you at the Timken Company. Sig Eps Celebrate Founding; Pledge Classes Elect Officers

The Ohio Kappa chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon celebrated the fifty-fifth anniversary of its founding in Richmond, Va., Nov. 1. Sig Ep actives and pledges observed Founder's Day by wearing the fraternity colors, red and violet, on their coat lapels.

After a turkey dinner for the chapter and its advisers, an informal discussion was held. Prof. George J. Cowell, David Glas-mire, Bernard Rabin and Earl Nissen, advisers, gave short talks. Prof. Robert D. Richey was unable to attend because of dress rehearsals for the major production, "Time of Your Life," which he directed.

Pledge Officers

Officers of the Alpha Phi fall pledge class are Sally Magee, president; Sally Winans, vice-president; Kay Buckey, secretary; Carol Saylor, treasurer; Leah Lovell, scholarship chairman; Patricia Monasmith, social chairman; Carol Graber, chaplain; and Gloria Kinsley, music chairman.

Georgia Schult is president of the Delta Gamma fall pledge class. The other officers are Dede Houser, vice-president; Jeanne McCoy, secretary; Kaye Harmon, treasurer; and Carol Thomas, social chairman.

The new officers of the Gamma Phi Beta pledge class are Judy Finkel, president; Pat Dugle, vice-president; Diane Villaire, secretary-treasurer; and Nancy Smith, historian.

Exchange Parties

The Gamma Phi held a political party with Pi Kappa Alpha Friday, and the Alpha Phi's held a similar party with Theta Chi.

Following the pep rally Saturday morning, Gamma Phi had a breakfast for Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa Psi held one for Delta Zeta, Alpha Chi Omega served breakfast to PiKA, and Alpha Delta Pi served Delta Upsilon.

WBGU Presents Hymns On Tape

"Lipscomb Chapel Singing," a program featuring the A Cappella singing of the entire student body and faculty of David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tennessee, is presented weekly by WBGU, the University's educational FM radio station.

The taped program, heard at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday, is devoted entirely to Christian hymns. It is the only program of its kind in the United States and is heard weekly on 40 commercial stations throughout the country.

A new feature of news coverage over WBGU this semester will be five minutes of state and area news at 8 p. m. each weekday evening along with regular world news casts at 4 p. m., 5 p. m., 6 p. m., and 9 p. m. Women's news is aired at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, and farm news at 1 p. m.

The news is presented on a co-operative basis between the journalism department, which edits the news, and the radio station, which is responsible for the airing of the news. News is gathered and prepared from the wires of International News Service by William McIntire and Kaye Nonnamaker.

Airing the news for the station this semester is George Dunster, Joe Gall, Lou Kozma, Nancy Looman, and William McIntire.

Choir Presents Annual Concert

The Treble Cleb Club will begin this year's activities with its annual breakfast and concert at Bowling Green's First Methodist Church this week end, said Charlotte Hahne, president of the choral group.

The 135-girl choir will meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow for breakfast in the church's social rooms, and during the 10:45 a. m. worship service Sunday, Nov. 11, will sing several sacred music selections.

Ernestine Wirebaugh, general chairman, is planning the breakfast and short program following it.

"Benedictus" from "Mass- Sebastian" and "Psalm 150" are two of the sacred pieces to be performed during the concert, announced Dr. James P. Kennedy, director of the group.

Manhart Leads Panel On Building Industry

L. F. Manhart, professor of business administration, moderated and spoke on "Trends and Developments in the Building Industry" at the Construction Material, Plumbing and Heating, and Electrical Suppliers section of the Ohio Valley Regional Conference. The meeting was sponsored by the Credit Association of Northwestern Ohio and was held Oct. 26 at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Toledo.

Richard Newell and William Thomas, students from the College of Business Administration, were guests. The conference represents the sixtieth anniversary of the National Association of Credit Men and the fiftieth anniversary for the Northwestern Ohio chapter of that association.

Prof Wins Prize At National Show

A $100 prize was awarded to Charles J. Lakofsky, associate professor of art, for a porcelain covered jar and a porcelain bowl he entered in the 19th Annual Ceramic National at Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts. The show is open to the public from Nov. 4 through Dec. 2.

Lakofsky also entered a stone-ware bowl in the show.

The two prize winning ceramic pieces will become a part of the museum's permanent collection.

Newman Club Buys House

The former Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house, corner of Wooster and North Summit Sts., was purchased last week by the Newman Club and will be the group's new headquarters, announced Anthony D'Erme, president.

The house will be renamed the Newman Club and will contain a library, a lounge, meeting rooms, a general office, a recreation room, a television room, living quarters and an office for the Rev. John Olliver, adviser. The office of the Newman Notes, the club newspaper, will also be located there.

The house will not be opened for at least another month, the president stated. The present Newman Hall, located on North Enterprise St., will still be used for communion breakfasts, general meetings, dances and big social events.

Art Methods Students Attend Ohio Convention

Twenty-five students of the art methods class and Robert O. Bone, associate professor of art, attended the Ohio Art Education Association Annual Convention Friday at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Toledo.

Two outstanding leaders in the field of education, Natalie Robinson Cole, Los Angeles, and Dr. Victor Lowenfeld, Pennsylvania State University, spoke at the convention.

Included in the program Friday were commercial exhibits, discussion groups, and speeches on arts in the classroom at the elementary, secondary, and college level.

2 Students Show Slides

Colored slides of Spain and Mexico were shown by two university students at the Spanish Club mixer held last Monday night. The students were Francisco Santacana, exchange student from Spain, and Robert Bailes, a member of the club who was a summer student at the University of Mexico.
